Addition of the Falcon 20

In January of 2008 NovaJet was pleased to announce the purchase of a Dassault Falcon 20F-5BR super medium size executive jet. This is the first Falcon 20F-5BR available for charter in Canada and compliments the already successful Falcon 10 that has been operating since NovaJet's inception in October of 2006. Like the Falcon 10 the Falcon 20 has been appointed with a luxurious state of the art interior. The large stand-up cabin can accommodate 10 passengers and includes a fully stocked refreshment centre with a cappuccino/espresso maker, dual entertainment centers, and a fully enclosed lavatory. The Falcon 20 is a highly versatile aircraft with an advanced wing design that enables it to take off and land at lower speeds on shorter runways, allowing passengers to use thousands of rural airports closer to their ultimate destinations.

NovaJet will continue to build its business jet platform on the Falcon family of aircraft as they are regarded as being the most well built business aircraft. Find out more about this exciting new addition to our lineup at www.novajet.com/aircraft.

e testimonial

"We are a mid-sized corporation with a high requirement to travel that is often dictated by last minute meetings. We used to deal with frustrating airport delays, but now we are able to complete private discussions while in the air, while having a great experience and a direct route. We have been so pleased with the ease of travelling via NovaJet, that we are considering acquiring a plane and having them manage it in order to offset costs."

Tremendous Success

Thanks to our valued clients and dedicated professional staff, NovaJet has experienced tremendous success over the past year. The recent addition of the Falcon 20 has proven to be a valuable asset to our clients and organization as a whole. The expansion of our fleet into different categories of aircraft has enabled us to access a larger portion of the North American charter market while maintaining our competitive edge. We have also increased our team of dedicated professionals in order to facilitate our growth and build on our primary focus of safety and providing superior customer service.

Points program

In July of 2008 NovaJet announced the launch of its "Take the Credit" New Customer Referral Program. "Nothing compares to the credibility and insight that our clients can provide when discussing business successes with their peers. Our "Take The Credit" New Customer Referral Program can pay handsome rewards for every new referral. In fact, the more customers a client refers, the more account credits they earn" says Philip Babbitt, Director of Sales and Marketing. The credits are their reward for referring new opportunities to NovaJet. You can earn as many referral credits as you wish and apply them at anytime.

benefits of NovaJet

Tailored Aircraft Management Program

NovaJet makes it a priority to control and manage the operational costs of our client's business aircraft. As an owner in NovaJet's Aircraft Management program, our clients enjoy significant cost and operational synergies including discounts on fuel, insurance, maintenance, and technical supervision of their asset. Clients also have the ability to increase their financial return and reduce variable operating costs by offering their aircraft for charter through NovaJet's Commercial Air Operation Certificate. NovaJet is actively seeking new aircraft management opportunities and Frank da Costa would welcome your inquiry.
